Council Attendance

(EDITORIAL)

Although there are thirteen members on the Student Council, only eight of the faithful were on hand at the close of the weekly meeting Wednesday in the Student Union.

Since a quorum wasn't present, two-thirds of a member more would have constituted such, all motions acted on by the council were passed only by general consent and now must be approved at the next Student Council meeting.

Dave Doerr, Constitution committee chairman, commented, "It is a pretty sorry showing when so few of the members are present to conduct business."

Where were the other five members? Why weren't they present? Why couldn't they attend to social matters on other days?

The two sophomore representatives, Bob Waunch and Barbara Burke, left the meeting early. They had explained their problems to Student Body President Tom Evans and had been excused. But we agree with the president when he says, that all matters which interfere with Student Council sessions should be conducted at other times.

Three bona fide members of the council did not even attend. One, Jean Ann Bailey, representative at large, was making an appearance elsewhere as a representative of the college.

Marv Scarper, junior representative, notified Evans that he couldn't attend because of an emergency and wouldn't let it happen again.

Doc Weaver, another rep-at-large, hasn't attended a session this quarter. Evans said yesterday that "Weaver has made no attempt to explain to me his absence from the meetings."

Some of these student body officers failed, so far as we are concerned, to uphold their responsibilities to the student body. They shouldn't accept any other responsibilities if they want to hold their offices.

Important matters are discussed at the Student Council meetings; if the elected officers can't make it a practice to attend these sessions (unless, of course, they are ill), they should be relieved of their duties.

We have a spirited group of students on campus this quarter and we feel that NO student should be a member of the council who isn't interested in furthering the best interests of these loyal Spartans.

Benz Names Parking Board

College representatives on the joint college-city parking committee were announced yesterday by Dean of Men Stanley Benz. They will meet in the near future with representatives of the city.

Members of the committee from the college are Ted Balgooyen, president of the California State Employees association at the college; Willard Schmidt, representing the faculty council; Dean Benz, representing the administration; Jerry Ball, associated student body representative and Lawrence Appleton from the College Advisory board.

Bid Accepted

A low bid of $985 was accepted by the State Department of Finance yesterday for the wrecking of the old San Jose high school at Seventh and East San Fernando streets.

American Wrecking company of San Francisco made the bid. The bids ranged from $985 to $31,111. Demolition of the building, which was erected in 1908, will begin in two weeks.

U.S. Angry at Russ Ousting

WASHINGTON (UP) — The United States is looking for a way to hit back at Russia for ousting American Ambassador George F. Kennan.

State Department policy at the moment is to keep the Kremlin guessing as to what form the retaliation may take. No one can say for sure that this government will not order the recall of Soviet Ambassador Georgi N. Zarubin or that diplomatic relations will not be severed.

Still Seek Crash Victims
HARROW, ENGLAND (UP) — Weary British volunteers and U.S. Air Force rescue teams yesterday searched the wreckage of three trains which crashed here yesterday.

Fair Weather

The weatherman apparently is in his fall quarter groove at last. He predicts fair today with temperatures in the mid-70s.

As he relaxes over the weekend, a few high clouds may slip into the Santa Clara valley and push temperatures down a little.

Senior Sign-up For Photos Ends

Today is the last time prospective fall-through-summer graduates may sign up for La Torre pictures, according to Dick Zimmerman and Carole Simmons, co-editors.

Seniors who have not kept their appointments should report to the La Torre booth near the Library Arch and sign up again, the editors warn.

Frosh-Soph Mixer

Freshmen were challenged by sophomores yesterday in Freshman Orientation to compete in the annual Soph-Frosh mixer, Oct. 22 at 7:30 in the Women's gym.

Tom Brown, Soph-Frosh mixer chairman, says the program will include a beanbag throw, volleyball, ping-pong, tug-o-war, and dancing.

Ike Leads Over Adlai In Survey

By KEITH GARDNER

General of the Army, Dwight David Eisenhower, took a decisive lead yesterday over his Democratic opponent in a definite presidential election poll.

Results of the poll—believed to have been conducted under more rigid specifications than any previous one on campus—showed Ike leading Stevenson with 57 per cent of the total as compared to the Illinois governor's 41 per cent.

Also receiving votes, though not in the race, were Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) and Stuart Hamblin. Taft got the nod from two male students, Hamblin from one—a mere fraction of the total queried.

The poll was not conducted by the Spartan Daily, but by Dr. George Bruntz' class in propaganda and public opinion. It is the first of a series which the class will take almost until the day of election, said Dr. Bruntz.

Confined to students eligible to vote, in the belief that a definite announcement of intention is to be preferred over a mere theoretical opinion, pollsters covered four per cent of the student body (Gallup and other major pollsters normally question only one or one and one half per cent).

It showed 55 per cent of the male votes going to Ike and 43 per cent to Adlai.

Women students showed a more marked Republican inclination. They went 63 per cent for the general, 47 per cent for the governor.

No votes for Communist, Progressive or Socialist party candidates were cast by either men or women.

The student pollsters had definite instructions on what questions they were to ask, and how and to whom they were to ask them; this was done in an effort to reduce the margin of error to the barest possible minimum.

They queried men and women alike because the breakdown between the sexes is approximately equal in this country. They tolled only those eligible to vote, and gave freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors like consideration.

In addition, those polled were not asked "Who are you going to vote for?" but "If the election were held TODAY, who would you vote for?" (Gallup, in 1948, stopped his poll some time before the election; belief now is that the independent vote shifted between that time and Nov. 4).

Future polls—results of which will be reported in the Daily—will provide a further breakdown, cover special groups such as the veterans, and enable voting trends to be recognized, said Dr. Bruntz.

Campus Chest Far Below Drive Goal

The Campus Chest collection total rose to $791 by 5 p.m. yesterday and was expected to go well over the $800 mark after last night's Fresno exchange rally donations were counted, Jerry Ball, Chest treasurer, stated yesterday.

Although the drive total is far from the campus goal of $1500, Ball expressed a note of optimism yesterday. He pointed out that last year's figures had been surpassed on Tuesday.

Ball emphasized that the committee was not conducting a "pandering" type of campaign, but rather collecting only at large gatherings and during organizational meetings.

The drive will end officially tonight at the conclusion of the SJS-Fresno football game.

Raiders Favored In Tonight's Tilt

A heavily-favored Spartan football aggregation will take the field tonight against the Fresno State Bulldogs for their first home action of the season. The game will get underway at 8 o'clock in Spartan stadium.

Coach Bob Bronzan's gridsters are home from a three-week road trip on which they won two while losing one. They dropped their season opener against powerful University of Colorado, 20-14, but have since taken the measure of San Diego State 47-6, and Arizona State, 21-14.

Game Tonight Requires Card

Students will be admitted to tonight's San Jose State-Fresno State football game by presenting ASB cards at the gate, according to the Graduate Manager's office.

Guest tickets can be obtained for $1.20 in the Graduate Manager's office until 5 p.m. today.

Monday noon is the deadline to pick up tickets to next Saturday night's SJS-COP grid encounter at Stockton. Tickets will be granted upon presentation of ASB cards in the Graduate Manager's office.

SRO Turnout For Big Rally

Fresno State college's "Show Time" act for the exchange rally last evening was cancelled at the last minute, but they sent up a short version of the act, and with SJS yell and song leaders filling in, presented a rally to a "standing room only" crowd in Morris Dailey auditorium.

Featured in the Fresno act were the Torrid Tones, a six-piece orchestra; vocalists Ann Wicks and Jackie Gamble and emcee Frank Groggins.

Spartan entertainment included yell leaders Denny Scott and Chuck Abrahamson, the song leaders and a record pantomime act, plus a vocal duo.

Chuck Wing, rally committee chairman, reminded Spartan rooters to turn out in white for the rooting section for the SJS-Fresno State game tonight.

After-Game Dance

The first after-game dance of the college year will be held in the Women's gymnasium tonight following the Fresno State-San Jose State football game.

Fireside Meet at Student Y

Fans In the Stands Are What Count

Tonight the college football team makes its first appearance on the home turf.

In three previous contests the locals played in San Diego, Tempe, Ariz., and Boulder, Colo., so that only a handful of rooters managed to attend one of these road games. Yet, despite the lack of a large rooting section the gridders went out and played outstanding ball. The football players knew that the students at home couldn't make the lengthy journeys.

But tonight the football squad is expecting a large turnout. They have played such top games that Deke Houlgate, one of the coast's top prognosticators, rates the Spartans thirty-fourth in his latest ratings.

Two of the squad's players, Fullback Dick Stults and Quarterback Lynn Aplanalp, rate among the nation's leaders in the statistics department.

We feel that the roofers should turn out en masse this evening in white shirts, rooter caps and full voice to show the Golden Raider squad that they are behind them all the way.

Fresno State college has been thumped by the locals pretty hard in the last few contests, but will present a letterman packed roster tonight.

Outstanding support by the students in the stands, we believe will help the students on the gridiron turn in an outstanding performance.

WASHINGTON SQUARE

CONFIDENTIAL

By JERRY BELCHER

The culinary arts always have been in the realm of black magic and witchcraft so far as I am concerned. What I mean is I have trouble telling the difference between a parsnip and an isotope. And as to cooking either one, whichever is cookable, I simply would not know where to begin.

My sole contribution to the world of good eating is a quaint little dish that involves cucumbers and graham crackers and a great deal of internal fortitude.

All of which is merely a way of backing into a rather ticklish subject. Now I don't want to sound like an alarmist, but within the near future the Graduate Manager's office is liable to blow up.

I refer to the impending revolution of the ladies of the office force. It is not that they don't have a great deal of respect and affection for their boss, Mr. William Felse. But like all good revolutions, this one will involve a matter of principle.

Since the first lady caveman accidentally dropped a strip of bacon (or whatever those people ate) on the campfire, the female has considered cooking her exclusive province. Any man who had the temerity to sneak up to the fire with the intention of roasting so much as a chestnut promptly got the full treatment of feminine wrath. Bared teeth, screaming, throwing things, all the standard stuff.

This is the reason for the tense atmosphere over in the Graduate Manager's office.

It seems that Mr. Felse cooks. Not only does he cook, but he has the overbearing masculine insolence to cook very well. So well does he cook, in fact, that Sunset Magazine saw fit to print one of his recipes.

Mr. Felse's "method of preparation," as he prefers to call it, has to do with a large-size salmon, a charcoal fire, a few condiments and some people. These latter are not actually part of the recipe, but are merely excellent receptacles for the finished product.

By his own admission, the salmon recipe is not Mr. Felse's major contribution to his chosen art. He says his venison is just a little better. In his cooking, Mr. Felse emphasizes simplicity. What he means is he likes the taste of venison, not of the barbecue sauce.

All too many barbecue cooks spend weeks preparing a conglomerate sauce, whose contents include such delicacies as dried, frog liver and Johnson grass. Then, they slop the resulting goop on the meat, flop it over the grill and cremate it.

Mr. Felse has been slaving over a hot barbecue pit for about 10 or 12 years and not just for fun. He is an ardent hunter and fisherman. "Up in the wilds you get tired of beans three times a day, so I cook up real cooking," said Mr. Felse.

Well, there's a great many other facets to Mr. Felse's talent. But, if you happen to be a lady, I think you know what I mean about the big blow-up.

When the boss is a better cook than his secretaries, the field is fertile for the seeds of revolution.

U.S. Diplomats Face 'Sharpest Test in Years'

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—American diplomacy faces one of its sharpest tests in recent years at the United Nations general assembly session opening here Oct. 14.

United States diplomats are confronted with the problems of settling the Korean war and satisfying the demands of rising colonial-nationalism throughout the world. They must stick to the traditional American position for self-determination without previously offending any of our major allies.

Korea, Africa and world politico-economics will be the major issues of the assembly session, which is expected to continue at least until Christmas.

Russia is expected to launch a diplomatic offensive immediately. If its Chinese Communist and North Korean allies reject the latest Panmunjon peace proposals, the Soviet attitude on the Korean war can be expected to be tough.

In sweeping strokes, the cycle in which American diplomacy appears to be involved can be painted thus:

The U.S. is committed by international obligation and public opinion to an honorable conclusion of the Korean war, continuing the fighting if armistice efforts fail. In the prosecution of the war, it is chiefly dependent upon its major allies who also are linked to it in agreements such as the North Atlantic treaty. One of the chief of these is France.

The Nationalist movement is focussed in French Tunisia and Morocco and reflected in other countries such as Iran and Egypt. Traditionally, the U.S. favors self-determination of peoples but cannot afford to offend its allies whom many, goaded by the Russians, consider colonial power.

The Korean war and its corollary, the Western rearmament effort, has raised worldwide living costs, particularly in South America, while American aid to that part of the world has not approached the Marshall Plan or N.A.T.O. scale. In some Latin American countries, the fall of governments can be attributed to this.

Until the drain of rearmament and the Korean war slacks off, the U.S. cannot give further aid to many countries hitherto considered firmly entrenched in the American camp.

Mobilize More and Endanger U.S.-- Dr. Edward Shaw

"Any great expansion of the U.S. defense effort at this time would place a dangerous strain on our 'economy,'" declared Dr. Edward P. Shaw, assistant professor of economics and head of the college Institute of Industrial Relations.

Shaw commented on a statement by Mr. Henry H. Fowler, defense mobilization chief, who stated that the U.S. is now in a position to increase its defense effort if it is necessary. Dr. Shaw listed two factors which would limit such expansion.

1. Expansion of the defense program would increase the likelihood of an inflationary business cycle, since there would be a great increase in the nation's payroll without a proportionate increase in consumer goods. 2. Most important, would be the scarcity of manpower. Added defense output would call for extra man-hours, and the country is running at "near capacity" at the present time.

Dr. Shaw agreed with the defense mobilizer that 1954 would be the year of greatest danger from Asiatic powers.

"By that time," he said, "the nation should have reached full mobilization, and would face a dangerous period of business let-down." This would be an opportune time for attack.

Psych. Class Opens

A class in general psychology begins at seven o'clock tonight at O'Conner hospital, Race and San Carlos streets, Harold H. Beyferth, coordinator of extension service at the college, announced today.

Nurses of the area are invited to enroll in the course which Walter T. Plant of the college faculty will teach. Three units of college credit will be given those who complete the course.

Applications For Elections Available Now

Application blanks for the sophomore, junior and senior class elections Oct. 24 are available today in the Student Union, according to Don Binder, chief justice of the student court.

All candidates for a class office must file one of these applications to check his eligibility, Binder said.

Positions open are president, vice president, secretary and treasurer of each class in addition to one male and one female sophomore justice.

The application blanks are in the box next to the ASB office in the Student Union.

"We hope the wave of school spirit now on campus will carry over into these elections and bring out a large number of candidates," said Binder.

Last day to pick up application blanks is Tuesday at 12 o'clock noon.

Candidates whose applications are approved may pick up their petitions Wednesday in the Graduate Manager's office, Binder said.

Artists Plan Trek

Alpha Gamma, honorary art society, will sponsor a sketch trip and barbecue for art majors and minors Sunday.

Sketchers are to meet at the Student Union at 1 p.m., according to Lee Ward, chairman.

File Fulbright Award Application

Preliminary applications for the Fulbright award should be turned in to the Personnel office no later than Oct. 14, Dean of Men Stanley Benz announced yesterday.

The Fulbright Act, under which a year of study in foreign countries is awarded selected students, requires applicants to possess a college degree at the time the award is to be given.

Competition for the 1953-54 academic year opened May 1, and will close Oct. 31, 1952, excepting those for Australia and New Zealand which end Oct. 15 of this year.

Grad Student Total Drops

There were fewer graduate students enrolled spring quarter than the previous one, according to statistics released from the Admissions office.

Spring 1952 found 416 graduate students enrolled, while at the same time last year there were 466 students taking graduate work at the college.

Of the enrollment total, 284 were men and 132 were women. Third quarter of 1951 found 342 men and 124 women studying in the college's graduate division.

Drama Veteran Begins SJS Career Halloween

By JO ROSSMANN

This Halloween will be more than just a children's holiday for Holt Wood, freshman drama student. It will mark his twenty-fifth birthday and the beginning of his career in the Little Theater.

Wood, a veteran of every kind of acting from musicals to melodrama, will appear as Jack Worthington in Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest."

He enjoys the play, the cast, the director and San Jose State. Wood's is the type of person who likes people. As for acting, if it's a choice between eating and being in a play, eating becomes a non-essential.

His dramatic career is simple. He was born and raised in the type of small town in Iowa that nobody can ever remember. Like most small children he was cast as shepherds, tinsel wrapped packages and angels in the local church Christmas plays. Then there was high school followed by a year at Hartnell junior college and finally the realization that no matter what he did it always came out acting. So Holt took any kind of job he could get for the experience.

He has sung with the USO, in nightclubs and barnstormed the state. Last year, he wound up at the First Theater in Monterey. As far as he's concerned Monterey and Pacific Grove are now home.

His first name is Emmett but he doesn't look it. He looks more like an industrial arts student.

Between rehearsals he sings in local nightclubs and studies his lines for "Antony and Cleopatra," the December offering of the drama department. He will play Pompey. Wood's admitted that the play interested him. He's never done Shakespeare. That alone makes him different from the rest of the herd.

Drama Ducats Dip in Price

Student body tickets for drama department productions took a 10c drop in price this quarter, according to Dr. Hugh Gillis, department head.

The elimination of the tax on educational productions is responsible for the admission drop, Dr. Gillis said. New prices are 50c with student body cards and 75c general admission.

Tickets for the Importance of Being Earnest featuring Holt Wood and Richard Kisko will go on sale Oct. 20 in the speech office.

The nineteenth century comedy will run Oct. 31, Nov. 1, 5, 6, 7 and 8 in the Little Theater. This will be the department's first try with a split week end run.

The department decided to schedule performances for two weekends instead of during the week as was done last quarter.

Guild B'casts 3 Shows Over KEEN, KLOK

"Campus Varieties" will be added to the Radio Guild's family of programs Saturday when the student show has its first airing at 9:30 a.m. over KLOK.

Under the direction of Robert I. Guy, assistant professor of speech, the guild also takes an active part in the production of two Sunday shows.

"The Story They'll Never Print, a tale about a lynching that didn't occur, will be the second in the guild's series, "To Secure These Rights." The program is heard Sunday nights at 6 o'clock over KEEN.

The Varieties will feature campus personalities. Scheduled for tomorrow morning is a rebroadcast of the Fresno-SJS tilt.

"The guild works in conjunction with the Institute of Industrial Relations to present "People and Problems," a program to acquaint listeners with the Santa Clara valley.

The guild is open to any student interested in radio. Members are chosen through auditions. Officers this year are John Piotti, president; Jerry Morrison, vice president; Pat Brizee, secretary, and Clyde Allen, publicity chairman.

Exhibit Paintings In Public Library, Art Department

The hanging of two art exhibitions was announced this week by Dr. Marquis Reitzel, art department head. The paintings will be on display until Oct. 21.

Paintings done by Gail Johnston, freshman art student, during the summer at the Pescadero Summer school of art will be on exhibition at the San Jose library.

The 17-year-old won an art scholarship during the summer of 1951 to the school's summer session.

Watercolors of California done by members of the Thirteen Watercolorists, a group of Bay Area artists, will be on exhibition in the gallery of the Art Department, Dr. Marquis Reitzel said.

Among the fourteen artists represented are Weaver, Cole, Cox, Logan, Carey, Rehag, Porter, Cameron, Hughes, Zachane, Schmitt, Lolan, Todhunter and Lawrence.

Opera Standing Room Ducats Available

Spartans with standing room tickets will be given seating preference Sunday at the matinee of "The Daughter of the Regiment," playing at the San Francisco opera house, according to Dr. William Hermanns, assistant professor of modern languages.

Students interested in attending are asked to contact Dr. Hermanns today between 3:30 and 4:30 p.m. in his office, B61, or by phoning CYPRESS 2-4908.

Standing room tickets are $3. The group will meet at the Student Union at 11:45 a.m. Sunday to form car pool.

Theta's Open House

Many Spartans will enjoy viewing modern living, California style, when Kappa Alpha Theta opens the doors of its spacious new chapter house Sunday from 4 to 8 p.m. Betsy Amick, Theta president, invites all students to the chapter's open house.

The lovely 171 E. Eleventh street house features a large dining room which opens on to an oak-shaded patio.

Before Sunday's open house, Thetas will entertain a group of girls from Fresno State College. The girls and their dates will be honored with a party at the Theta chapter house after the Fresno-San Jose State game tonight.

After the Game

The grid-iron will become just another utensil for cooking hot cakes tonight when Delta Sigma Phi welcomes guests from their Fresno State chapter to an after-game dance at their new Eleventh street chapter house.

During the evening of dining and dancing, DSPs will be entertained by Dennie Moore, Van Boutte and Rick Botelho, better known as "The Four Moods Minus One."

The ball will be kept moving with Herb Gregory and Lee Duncan and their original skittisms. "Rambling" Jimmy Burke and "Wild Willy" Erickson will harmonize in a uke and harmonica duet.

Fun for Phi Sigma Kappa

An afternoon of volley ball and dancing and a barbecue are being planned for the members of Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity Sunday. Girls from Mary Aitkins hall at Mills college are arranging the affair for the lucky boys.

Tri Sigma Swim

Members of Tri Sigma, club for social welfare majors, held a swimming party and barbecue Friday at the Almaden Country club.

Tri Sigmas and their guests enjoyed the warm waters of the club's two swimming pools. The get-acquainted party for social welfare majors was concluded with a short business meeting.

Pin for Sydney

What could be more appropriate to announce a pinning than a pin cushion? Sydney Breese announced her pinning to Robert Taylor by displaying a large pink pin cushion, with her pin in the center, to her Delta Zeta sorority sisters Monday night.

Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity brothers of Robert serenaded Sydney and coffee and cake was served at the Delta Zeta house in honor of the newly pinned couple.

Welcome Neighbor!

Theta Chi and Delta Upsilon gave a welcoming party Friday for Delta Sigma Phi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon, new comers to Eleventh street.

In order to receive full benefit from last week's Indian summer weather, the boys held the fun fest between the DU and Theta Chi chapter houses.

Pledge Surprise

Sigma Kappa pledges surprised active members Monday night. "Kidnapping" Dulce Grigg, chapter president, and Gerri Herzog, pledge trainer, they traveled to Palo Alto.

Actives learned of the pledge sneak when clues began arriving over the telephone. Deciphering the clues, members crashed the Palo Alto party and were awarded with coffee and cookies shaped in the form of the sorority's pin.

Entertainment, Songs Cinch Little Sister Party Success

The enthusiastic applause which greeted the entertainment and speeches at the AWS big-little sister party last Wednesday proved to the sponsor that the party was a success. The party was held from 3:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. in the Inner Quad.

The program began with three piano solos, "The Sheik of Araby," "Dark Town Strutters Ball," and "Twelfth Street Rag," by Ingrid Andersson.

Joyce Malone, master of ceremonies, introduced Sallee Lotz, big-little sister chairman, who gave a short speech of welcome after which cokes and cookies were served.

Miss Lotz then introduced Carol Larson, AWS president, who in turn introduced her cabinet and "Mom" Pritchard, faculty adviser.

A monologue by Joan Anderson and a pantomime by Edith Poolman were given.

Oriocci Will Honor Fresno State Nisei

Twenty Fresno State Nisei students will be the guests of Spartan Oriocci organization following the San Jose-Fresno State game tonight at a dance in the Student Union.

All students are invited to attend the dance, and members will be admitted free, according to Floyd Kumagai.

IFC Presents Bishop Trophy To Theta Chi

Theta Chi, national social fraternity, has been awarded the Warren L. Bishop Memorial trophy for outstanding participation in inter-fraternity activities for the 1951-52 scholastic year.

The Warren L. Bishop Memorial trophy was first awarded for the 1950-51 year. This IFC trophy tries to bring in all phases of campus life. It is awarded on a point basis with the points spread among scholarship, sports and other inter-fraternity activities.

Theta Chi received the trophy on the basis of two second places and one third place in scholarship. They also placed second among other campus fraternities in football.

In other sports, the fraternity placed second in baseball and second in track. Participating in the Inter-Fraternity Spring Sing, the fraternity members were awarded first place honors.

Serving in office during this outstanding year for Theta Chis were Dick Ganzert, president; Tom Adams, vice president; Walt Whitman, secretary; Dick Campbell, corresponding secretary; Larry Elam, treasurer, and Bill Oaks, pledge marshal.

Frat Members Of Kappa Tau Elect Officers

Kappa Tau fraternity members chose Jones Davidson as pledge master and Tom Richardson as social chairman during a recent special election at the chapter house.

New Kappa Tau member Dave Leslie was appointed to assist Richardson with his duties as social chairman. Leslie was voted the fraternity's outstanding pledge at the close of his pledge training last spring.

Attending the election meeting was Burton K. Long, June SJS graduate and member of the East Bay alumni chapter of Kappa Tau. He told of alumni plans to visit the new chapter house located at 374 S. Sixth street. Jack Hibner, alumni correspondence chairman, was chosen to help with arrangements for the affair.

Alpha Gammas To Make Trip

A sketch trip to Almaden and a barbecue at the home of the adviser, John V. Devincenzi, 1474 Lupton avenue, is scheduled for Sunday by Alpha Gamma for all art majors and minors.

The paint dabblers will meet at 1 o'clock in front of the Student Union. Transportation will be waiting for them. Those interested in joining the festivities may contact the social chairman, Lee Ward, by calling CY 2-0527.

Kappa Alpha Holds Dance for Pledges

Pledges presented door chimes for their house to the active members of Kappa Alpha at the fraternity's pledge dance Saturday night.

Kappa Alpha pledges honored were Nort Thornton, Art White, Pete Graff, Dick Bender, Don Becker, Vaughn Graybehl and Lindell Burnett.

Cupid Finds His Mark--- Three Weddings Planned

McGee-Howard

Beverly June McGee has revealed her engagement to Spartan Paul M. Howard Jr.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. McGee of Campbell. She is a graduate of Westmont college in Santa Barbara and is now employed as a teacher in the Campbell Elementary school.

Her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Howard of San Diego. While studying at State, he is engaged in boy's work at the Arbutus Ranch for boys in Los Gatos.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Bishop-Kirkpatrick

A music box containing her engagement ring and the traditional box of candy passed to her Sigma Kappa sorority sisters revealed the engagement of Vera Bishop and Jack Kirkpatrick.

The couple are planning a September wedding. Vera is a junior kindergarten primary major. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl C. Bishop of Burlingame.

Jack is a junior electrical engineering major at Ohio State college. He is affiliated with Delta Chi. Both Jack and Vera were graduated from Burlingame High school.

Fossgreen-Thompson

Spartans Naomi Fossgreen and Craig Thompson told friends recently of their summer wedding plans.

Naomi is the daughter of Mrs. Edyth Fossgreen of Los Gatos. Craig is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Thompson of Vincentown, N.J.

The couple, now attending San Jose State, are both graduates of Los Gatos High school.

Spartans Picked To Beat Bulldogs

After a light workout yesterday, Spartan gridsters will rest today in preparation for their tussle with the Fresno State Bulldogs tonight at 8 o'clock in Spartan Stadium.

Coach Bob Bronzan will bring his charges into the game heavily favored and without any injuries. Bill Walker, halfback who sat out the Arizona State game last week, has recovered from a knee injury and has moved into a starting post.

Stan Wacholz, the locals, brilliant end, won the weekly award for the most downfield blocks in one week counting both last week's game and this week's scrimmage. He was closely followed by his end teammate, Bob Amaral. Wacholz is the lad who sneaked behind the Sun Devils great safety man, John Henry Johnson, for the Spartans first touchdown, on a pass from Lynn Aplanalp. The play went for 61 yards.

The Golden Raiders two hard-charging tackles, George Porter and Sal Cardinali, will again lead the way for the speedy local backs.

Spartan downfield blocking will be led by Dale Summers and Clarence Orr, guards, both swift men and hitting hard at around 200 pounds. Jack Carhart, center, will complete the offensive line.

Lynn Aplanalp, quarterback, will lead a starting backfield consisting of Dick Stults, fullback, and Larry Matthews and Walker at halfback positions.

Phoenix Man Sends Letter To Spartans

In the wake of the San Jose-Arizona State football game, Dr. John T. Wahlquist, SJS president, received the following letter. It comes from Dr. Kenneth Dale, chairman for the Business department of the Phoenix Club, a booster organization for the city of Phoenix.

"Dear President,

Allow me to congratulate you and your coach, staff and football team. It has been a long time since I have seen finer gentlemen, better sportsmen, and harder hitting football players.

Good luck with Stanford."

Sincerely,
Dr. Kenneth Dale

LARRY MATTHEWS, speedy Spartan halfback, will start for the local club tonight against the Fresno State Bulldogs. Matthews, one of the fastest men on the squad, made some near impossible catches in last week's thriller which was won by the Golden Raiders 21-14 over Arizona State.

Broncos Injury Ridden

Santa Clara coach Dick Gallagher was faced with a host of injuries today with only three players on his pre-season starting lineup suited up for workouts.

The most serious injury was suffered by end George Montgomery who fractured a leg in the Tulane game and will be out for the remainder of the season.

Fran Hare, a defensive back, injured his hand yesterday but the extent of the injury has not been ascertained. It was feared he suffered a broken finger. Halfback Billy Gill will be out for at least two weeks with a foot injury.

COP Readies For Grid Tilt With Spartans

STOCKTON, Oct. 9 (UP)—College of Pacific, which has no game this week, returned to heavy practice scrimmages in preparation for their ensuing battle with San Jose State on the following week end.

The game against San Jose has been described by COP Coach Ernie Jorge as "the toughest game since California."

Jorge scheduled a stiff workout on pass defense. He said yesterday that the pass defense was not too good and that the defensive backfield will have to improve if the club is to overcome the passing of the Spartans' Lynn Aplanalp.

In last year's meeting between the two teams the Golden Raiders, sparked by the passing and field generalmanship of Aplanalp, edged the Bengals 7-0.

Spillane at Stanford

Part One

(Here's another viewpoint on Mickey Spillane, his life and times. This one comes from Stanford university, was written by Dick McLean, is entitled "Alarm on the Farm," and is the first part of a two part serial called . . .)

Mickey Spillane comes to Stanford

I flipped the wheel of my car and squealed a thousand miles worth of rubber off the tires making the turn onto Palm Drive. Yes, there it was just as Georgie had said, Stanford. But Georgie would never see it again because the poor little slob was lying in a cold grave with six feet of dirty earth in his face and somebody was going to die slowly and in agony for it. And I could feel the cold lump on my .45 as the beat of my heart played chop sticks on the leather holster.

I fished out my deck of Luckies and lit one. Just then my car hit a bump and I said a dirty word.

But I could still hear Georgie crying and saying, "Honest, Mike, I was framed. I didn't cheat on that test. I flunked it cold. Somebody hocked by test and forged one with my name on it. I was framed." And a little after that he'd shot himself and I was going to even up a few things . . .

And then I saw her. She stood under a sign that said, "Give A Lift To The Village." She wore a fur coat buttoned all the way to the collar and a halo of blonde hair that made the mink look like skunk. In a fur coat or a barrel she'd still look good. As I kicked the door open for her, she smiled and that warm feeling sneaked up my back and made me feel like a melted cheese sandwich inside.

"Hello," she said. "What's your name?" When she spoke, I could smell the scent of her lipstick. It was like the taste of jellybeans. Funny, I hadn't tasted jellybeans since I was a kid.

"Mike Hammer," I said. "Mike?" she mused. "That's a nice name. I like you Mike." "What's your name?" "Laura."

I drove past the Quad. Slowly. I didn't want to hurry. Not now. She said that she lived in a long, low building over to the right so I stopped the car.

"Will you give me a call, Mike?" "Sure," I said. She breathed a warm, jellybean "goodbye" at me and was gone. As she swung her way up the brick wall, I noticed that she wore no shoes.

The next morning I picked up a time schedule with all the class listings. I found the class that had finished poor Georgie and the name of the instructor. "Professor Bottie—Room 201m." About four o'clock in the afternoon I found the damned room. I'd been given so many bad directions that I was ready to kick the door down.

I knocked and no one answered, so I did.

"Art you Professor Bottie?" I yelled at the little guy hiding behind the desk. He couldn't talk at first. He just rolled his white, scared eyes inside his fishbowl glasses.

"No . . . no . . . I'm the reader. You'll have to see Professor

Columbia Clean-up Fouls Up

Attempts by pro-Eisenhower students at Columbia University to clean up the campus ended in a lathery battle of soap bars earlier this week.

After the Columbia student newspaper had endorsed Adlai Stevenson for president—the first time that their paper has ever come out in favor of a particular candidate for presidency — about 100 student Republicans, carrying mops, brooms, and soap, met outside to form a "Detergents for Democrats" club.

After they had gathered on the library steps to cheer for Ike they began, for some reason, to throw bars of soap into the crowd of spectators. The spectators, as a matter of course, began hurling the soap bars back, and soon 500 students were busy throwing soap at each other amidst cheers and boos from other spectators.

An Associated Press release on the melee said that the students began throwing the soap for the Bottie about having your grade changed."

"Where is the Professor?" I asked.

His mouth tried hard to lie but his eyes darted to the door in back of him and I knew. He tried to stop me so I bashed him across the side of his fat head with my .45 and he saw stars and reason at the same instant.

I opened the door and stepped in. Then stopped cold. Professor Bottie wore a neat tailored suit, an amused smile, and sheer nylon stockings. Professor Bottie was a woman!

(And what a woman, as we will all find out in the concluding installment of this exciting story, which will come out some time.)

College Extension Division Host to Municipal Workers

The San Jose State college extension division sponsored a public relations program for municipal employees Wednesday afternoon at the Sunnyvale City Hall in Sunnyvale. Sunnyvale's city manager, H. K. Hunter, was host for the program.

Two members of the college administration spoke before the municipal employees. Dr. Vernon Guellette, placement officer, addressed the group on "What is Public Relations," and Lowell C. Pratt, public relations director, outlined press relations procedures.

The other speaker for the afternoon was Major Sigmund Cohen of Parks Air Force base. Major Cohen spoke on "Public Relations and You."
